Foreword

The progress of Medical Research depends on rapid dissemination of information. Researchers should be able to access information speedily avoiding duplication of efforts, which would be possible only through networking and resource sharing. This Union Catalogue of Journals in ICMR libraries would help serve scientists working in ICMR for quickly accessing information from other Institutes.

It is against such a background that in 2001 ICMR Hqrs, library has taken a major project of compilation of the Union Catalogue of Journals available in ICMR Libraries. This extensive work in compiling this directory required cooperation of all the ICMR libraries across the country. The ICMR libraries have readily sent the data in a machine-readable format that has been compiled using LibSys software. This effort will have to be continued and it is expected that, in the not too distant future, the updated ICMR database will be available as online data base searchable from any part of the country through Internet.

However, the holdings data for over 23 ICMR libraries in the country, up to the end of 2005, are now available. The catalogue, contains holdings information of about 2000 titles of which nearly 700 are current. This printed version of ICMR Union Catalogue as reference material should be very useful to the libraries as well as the end users. This will be put on the ICMR website soon. I would like to commend the staff of the ICMR Hqs. Library who have done an excellent job. The Libraries of the Council have extended co-operation and support to Hqrs. library which is worth appreciation. This project was undertaken with the guidance and supervision of Dr K. Satyanarayana, Sr. DDG & Chief (Publication & Information). I wish every success to this effort and hope that the updation of Union Catalogue of ICMR libraries is carried out on a regular basis with co-operation and support from all ICMR libraries.
